THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

THE PROTEST OF GOV. WELLS.

His Letters to the President and Gen. Sheridan.

STATE OF LOUISIANA, EXEC'VE DEP'T.
NEW ORLEANS, June 4, 1867.
[Telegram.]

To His Excellency Andrew Johnson, President of the United States:

In advance of communication by mail, I respectfully and earnestly protest against the act of Gen. Sheridan in removing me from office as a usurpation of power on his part, and to gratify a feeling of personal malice toward me because I dared to appeal from his unauthorized and arbitrary exercise of power in appointing a Levee Board.

J. MADISON WELLS,
Governor of Louisiana.

STATE OF LOUISIANA, EXEC'VE DEP'T.
New Orleans, June 4, 1867.

To Major Gen. P. H. Sheridan, Commanding Fifth Military District:

GENERAL: I had the honor to receive at the hands of one of your orderlies this morning, at half past 3 o'clock, at my residence in Jefferson, a written document purporting to be "Special Orders No. 59," in which you promulgate that you have removed me from the office of Governor of Louisiana.

For the delicate consideration you displayed in delivering your order at that early hour, I owe you many thanks, as I suppose you meant that I should enjoy one good night's sleep before my decapitation. It may appear ungracious in me to disappoint your expectations, but, strange to say, the effect of your order did not drive sleep from my eyelids. I returned to my couch with a feeling of relief that my fate was no worse. When the morning paper came, containing a copy of your telegram to the Secretary of War, I again congratulated myself on my merciful sentence, as, knowing your ideas of the unlimited power you possess, I might have been condemned to the Dry Tortugas, or shot by a drum-head court-martial. From the tone and temper of that document it is very evident, General, you were in one of your wrathy moods when you penned it, and that I was not hanged, shot, or banished appears to me, under the circumstances, as if I were indebted for my safety to the interposition of Divine Providence.

In your order removing me, General, you allege as a reason therefor that I am impeding you in the execution of the law of Congress; but how and in what way you do not condescend to state.

Now, General, it may appear discourteous in so humble an individual as myself to contradict so exalted a functionary as you conceive yourself to be; yet, as there is not a word of truth in the charge you make, you must excuse me if I decline to give you the benefit of so serious an accusation.

To go back to the date of the July riots of last year, your memory cannot fail to serve you that you availed yourself of the occasion, in your telegrams to Gen. Grant relative to that affair, to make a direct personal attack on me, impeaching my efficiency as a public officer, and recommending my removal from office. Not conscious of having deserved your severe structures, I confess I was surprised and pained when I read them in print, the more so as you were not in the city on the day of the riot, you having found it convenient to be off to Texas several days before, I will not say in anticipation of a riot, nor will I use the word "skulk."

I bore your damaging accusations a long while in silence, but finally exercised the right belonging to the humblest individual, of defending myself publicly against your charges. This I did in a letter addressed to an honorable Senator from Illinois, but couched in language devoid of scurrility and personalities.

I spoke of your military services in the highest praise. At that time I did not suppose for a moment that any personal hostility on your part would result from that publication. In fact, I had dismissed the transaction from my mind, and when you received your appointment as commander of this district, I called on you as if there had been no controversy between us, and tendered you my co-operation in carrying out the law of Congress. You received my visit courteously, and I fully expected there would be harmonious relations between us. When, however, the time arrived for you to act in the appointment of registrars, and in the removal and appointment of officers, I discovered no disposition on your part to consult me in the slightest manner, which, as a loyal Governor, and intimately acquainted with the people of the State, I did not think unreasonable in me to expect of you. I did not complain, however; my official intercourse with you was frequent, though about this time I saw published what purported to be an extract of a letter from you to the Secretary of War or General Grant, in which you asked for advice as to your power of removal, as it was probable you would find it necessary to remove me from office. I have seen no denial from you as to the authorship of that letter.—Nothwithstandiag these repeated evidences of an unfriendly spirit on your part, I said nothing, and it was only when you assumed to nullify my appointment of a Levee Board and to substitute one of your own, which I think you had no authority under the law of Congress to do, that I referred the question of your right to appoint to the proper officers at Washington to decide. If to remonstrate against the illegal and arbitrary exercise of power by you—having no connection with the law of Congress, which specifically defines your duties—is an "impediment" to the execution of the law, then your power is supreme, which, in my opinion, was never contemplated by the act of Congress.

But, General, you are not content with charging me as an "impediment" to the execution of the law, as your sole reason for removing me from office. As if conscious that the charge was a mere invention of yours to afford a pretext for doing an act you had predetermined on to gratify an ancient grudge, you come down to your true forte, and pour out the vials of your wrath in a stream of abuse and scurrility on my devoted head. You will pardon me, General, for not imitating your example by way of retaliation. My education has been sadly deficient in that polite branch of literature, and I am willing to leave the field to you as without an equal. I cannot forbear the remark, however, that when a Major General of the United States army has to play the part of a "bugler" in sounding in person his own honesty, it may well excite a curiosity in the community to surmise the cause therefor. As to your charge of appointing rebels to office, if it is a crime, I would like to ask, General, if you are free from the same accusation. Out of a Levee Board composed of five members, one of your appointees was a member of the Secession Convention, and signed the ordinance of secession; another is not a citizen of the United States, but claimed the protection of the British flag on the arrival of Commodore Farragut and his fleet, and a third was a blockade runner, who was arrested and tried by a military commission. There is a trite maxim, General, in this connection, which it would be well for you to remember in your future personal controversies. Equally faulty and unfortunate in point of memory is your insinuation that you could not find me on the day of the riot, when I called at your office on my way to Mechanic's Institute, and talked over the matter with you. I did not call on you for a guard, because one had been furnished me by General Baird.

Having disposed of your misstatements concerning me, and defended myself from what I conceive to be a wanton and malicious attack on my character on your part, I leave the public to judge between us.

It is with no pleasure I have been forced into this controversy. My desire was to hold the most amicable relations with you officially, but to silently submit to your arbitrary exercise of power, and your aspersions on my character, would be to prove false to my official trust, and to admit the truth of your slanders.

And now I call on you to make good your assertion of dishonesty as charged against me, if you expect to avoid the verdict of the people, which is always meted out to the calumniator and slanderer.

J. MADISON WELLS,
Governor of the State of Louisiana.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the maleficstars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars: in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

Address, MADAME H. A. PERRIGO.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, | SEATON GALES, EDITORS.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1867.

"THE PRESIDENT,—THE UNIVERSITY."

Under this caption the Raleigh Standard, of a recent date, has an article singularly disingenuous and spiteful even for that paper. Among other things it says:

"We learn that Gov. Swain, in the course of his welcoming speech to the President, referred to his veto messages as worthy the wisdom of Washington and the statesmanship of Jefferson. President Johnson, in the course of his reply, paid a tribute to the courage displayed on the battle-field, but he said the courage which he most admired was that which enabled a man to stand up against the clamors of a tyrant majority.—This expression was enthusiastically applauded."

Now "we learn," from the most intelligent and unquestionable authority, that Gov. Swain, in the course of his welcoming speech, made no reference whatever, direct or indirect, to the veto messages. The President could, of course, by no possibility, reply to a remark that had not been made. And speaking of the "veto messages," there was one of them which the Standard, before it had proclaimed its adhesion to Congress and to Radicalism, thought worthy of all the alleged commendation of Gov. Swain. We refer to the veto of the Civil Rights Bill.

President Johnson did say, we are informed, on the occasion referred to, in substance, that, however much we might be constrained to admire physical courage on the battle-field, the moral courage which enabled men to withstand the clamor of a tyrannical majority and a mendacious press was a rarer, loftier and nobler attribute. Whether the sentiment was applauded or not, we do not know; but it certainly deserved applause. The martyrdom of Raleigh and Sidney on the scaffold, and Hampden on the battle-field, were lofty examples of the virtues eulogized by the President; and he might well exclaim, with the greatest of American orators and one of the most heroic of statesmen, in words that can never be forgotten, or cease to be applauded, while civil liberty has a resting place among men: "If that be treason, make the most of it!"

The Standard thinks it more than probable that a full and correct report of the speeches of Presidents Swain and Johnson will not appear, and that, of course, neither of the expressions, to which it refers, "will appear in Mr. Gobright's report for the Associated Press." Very likely,—as they were not used, they cannot be reported.

The Standard's affirmation that a Confederate flag was found "waving" in one of the rooms of the Societies of the University, is calculated to make an impression quite as erroneous as the misrepresentation of the welcoming address to the President and the reply. The Dialectic Society, with most commendable industry and good taste, has been engaged for years in the collection of a cabinet of curiosities, arranged as a miniature museum. Among these are the relics of Indian wars from Massachusetts to Mexico, arrow-heads, stone battle-axes, &c., a bayonet used by the minions of Tryon at the battle of Alamance, a flag "waved" by an Orange company at the battle of Guilford, tattered garments worn in the late dreadful civil war, and the Confederate flag in question,—not "waving," but simply open to inspection with the other mementoes of by-gone days. Could any thing be more natural or innocent? It is due to Gov. Swain to say that, apprehending cavil from narrow and contracted minds, he advised the entire seclusion of the relic in question, as soon as he ascertained that it was where it might arrest attention.

The Standard's further remark that "the University is now, and has been, in the hands of persons disaffected to the Government of the United States," does not accord with the precisely opposite statement admitted into its columns, some time since, that the University was under radical influence, the President ought to be removed and Gen. Joseph E. Johnston placed at its head!

The same paper now insists that "it must be reformed. The Convention to be held under the Sherman act must reform it, from 'turret to foundation stone.'" We presume that the Standard means that the present distinguished corps of Professors, including the President, many of whom have grown gray in the cause of science and the service of the State, and who have labored for long years on small pay, and during some of the time without pay, to build up the name and character of the venerable institution and of North Carolina, must be turned adrift, and their places supplied with graduate-professors in the school of modern Radicalism. Heaven forefend! To have the fountains of learning polluted with this fell poison would be worse than having all the merely political springs corrupted. The Faculty of the University of North Carolina has no superior in the country, in the individual moral worth of its members, in eminence of attainments, in devotion to the pursuits of knowledge, or in that enlarged State patriotism which has been known to sacrifice self for the interests of the country and its youth. There is not, nor has there ever been, a politician among them; although it is true that the Standard succeeded in driving one of the number (Mr. Hedrick) out of the State, in 1856, upon the allegation that he was simply a silent supporter of Fremont for the Presidency. So far as the quiet, private opinions of the gentlemen composing the Faculty are concerned, we know that a very general prejudice has, in times past, during and since the "rebellion," prevailed against the corps, on the ground that the supposed preponderance of sentiment was against the war.

But enough. This fresh ire has been excited against the University, simply because President Johnson has seen proper to honor it with a visit and honor himself in doing so. Who could have thought that such an incident could have produced such results, a few short months ago? We remember well the emphatic declaration of the Standard, in 1865, that never to forsake a friend was one of President Johnson's most decided characteristics. We leave with our readers the application of the reminiscence.

THE MILITARY COMMANDERS.

We observe that considerable stress is laid upon the assumption that, inasmuch as President Johnson, in his veto of the Military bill, declared that that bill would give the military commanders absolute control over life, liberty and property, therefore he is debarred from interposing in the premises of their jurisdiction.

We take it that what the President meant was that such would be the possible dangers of the passage of that bill. His reading of history, as well as personal observation and experience, taught him how prone men are to arrogate powers not strictly delegated, and how especially has this always been the case with military rulers. But, as the Charleston Mercury puts the case, he is not to "assume that the possible danger will be the inevitable result," but to define by general orders the powers the military acts confer. A general officer has no higher law than a general order. That is his only rule and guide; and, whether that order be legal or illegal, he as an officer will implicitly obey its instructions. This is why so much importance is attached to the recent declarations of Mr. Chase. They expound the law; they announce a fact; and will probably be the guiding principle of an order deciding the extent and limitations of the authority in civil matters, to be exercised by the district commanders of the South.

WE DID NOT ASSERT that the rumor was true that the Radicals in this State, disappointed at the readiness which the people manifest to reconstruct on the Congressional platform, had "determined to use every effort to induce the colored people to register, and then to vote against the calling of a Convention." We published the rumor for what it was worth, and then asked "those who know, if this be the policy or not."

The Newbern Republican, with peculiar vanity, presumes itself to be specially referred to, put on airs, and prates about "slander."

The Republican is too young and unsophisticated, as yet, to be entrusted with the secrets of the party. We cannot, therefore, accept the virtuous disclaimer of that fledgeling.

As to the point that the "Radical Republican party of North Carolina stands fairly and squarely upon the platform of principles adopted at their Convention of the 27th. of March last," we must be allowed considerable skepticism. Few of the public meetings that have been held for its ratification have contented themselves with a simple endorsement of that platform. In a large majority of instances, they have gone beyond it, far beyond the military bill, and clamored for confiscation and farther disfranchisement.

Added to this fact, the "Radical Republicans" of the State are particularly concerned lest Congress should fail to assemble next month. Why? Do they not wish it, in the hope that that body may be induced, by false representations and violent appeals, to accumulate the severities of the present law?

It is evident, therefore, that these North Carolina Radicals are not satisfied with the Reconstruction acts. Bad, harsh and oppressive as they are, they do not come up to the measure of the vindictiveness and venom of so-called "Southern Loyalty:"—Hence, again we ask, "of those who know," if the rumor, to which we have referred, is, as we have been informed, well-founded?—We are inclined to think it is.

AS WE have heretofore stated, we have but little sympathy with Gov. Wells personally. He has been the victim of a most tyrannical usurpation, but, personally, he deserves it. He writes a caustic and pungent letter, nevertheless; and the reader will enjoy a perusal of the communication which he has addressed to Gen. Sheridan, and which we publish on our first page, to-day.

GENERAL ORDER No. 34.—It is stated that the cause which led to the issuing of Order No. 34 was a belief on the part of General Sickles that justice was not as promptly administered in some parts of the State as it might be. This being his belief, he thought it advisable to make an order which should allow the civil authorities to retain the primary control of civil affairs, while, at the same time, such information was furnished the military authorities as would enable them to revise any action already taken, or to take any further action as might be considered necessary. Gen. Sickles preferred doing this to issuing such an order as that issued, with the same intention and motive, by Gen. Schofield.—Charleston Mercury.

The following will bear republication:

"General Ord has been getting himself into trouble in Mississippi. He has issued an order which has been construed to mean that he "considers the vote of the freedman to be secondary to his labor and obedience to his contract"—and this is held to be degrading the colored man to the position of "a mere manual laborer." The general, in reply to this accusation, says that he does regard it as much more important to the negro and everybody else, that he should learn to support himself by his own labor; and he does not see how this can be construed into hostility to Republican principles or policy. The active politicians in his department declare that no organization of the Republican party can be effected there without direct aid from the military authorities, and he is complained of for not giving it."

MAXIMILIAN.—The Washington correspondent of the New York World says that the Austrian Minister feels hopeful, by receipt of intelligence from Mexico, that Maximilian's life will be spared, although nothing official nor what may be regarded as strictly reliable, considering that it comes from Mexico, has been received.

THE PRESIDENT'S LATE VISIT.

"PERSONNE," the well known correspondent of the Charleston Mercury, in the course of a recent letter to that paper, giving an account of the President's visit to the University, has the following interesting "jottings," which are worthy of re-production:

DURHAM, N. C., June 5, 1867.

At nine this morning the President and his escort left Raleigh en route for Chapel Hill, to attend at that place the Commencement exercises of the University of North Carolina. Accompanied by some twenty army officers in appropriate vehicles, preceded by music, and a small detachment of cavalry, and followed by a company of infantry, the cortege which waited upon him to the depot was as imposing as could be expected. The crowd which gathered in front of the Yarborough Hotel to witness the departure was silent and respectful, and the quiet raising of hats in response to the parting wave of the chapeau of Mr. Johnson, as he rose in his carriage to express his silent adieu, told him that if the feelings of the people were not enthusiastic, they were certainly sincere and characteristic.

Reaching the depot, the party were ushered into the most elegant cars of the North Carolina Railroad Company; and drawn by a new, powerful and very handsome engine, just turned out of the company's workshops, we were whizzed through the air at the rate of something over half a mile a minute.—The courtesies of the road were well exhibited by President Webb and Superintendent Anderson, both of whom are live, active, energetic managers of one of the largest and most important interests in the State.

In connection with the short journey of twenty-eight miles I noticed a curious fact which may some day become historic; at least such it deserves to be. It is this: Notwithstanding the order of Gen. Sickles permitting colored persons to ride in public conveyances has not been promulgated twenty-four hours, five Raleigh negroes were admitted and permitted to ride in the President's car to this place. The more special car of the Commander-in-Chief of the Second District not even an uninvited white man was allowed to desecrate. The company was unusually select and distingue. I suppose the President's car was not special, but public.

AT DURHAM'S.

On disembarking here, the President rested for a few moments at the wayside inn of Mr. R. F. Morris. Some fifty or seventy-five of the neighboring farmers, including a number of ladies and children, having assembled to least their curiosity on the party, they were severally introduced by Governor Worth.

The President made but a single remark to the Durham gathering, and that was to express his pleasure at meeting his fellow North Carolinians, and the hope that his endeavors to do his duty had met with their approbation. Messrs. Seward, Randall and Sickles then being introduced to the assemblage simply bowed their acknowledgments.

INCIDENTS.

Among those who shook hands with the President and party was a little negro. Mr. Seward asked him how he was "getting on." "Berry well, massa, but I like to hab yer gib me half a dollar to buy a slate." Mr. Seward felt for the contribution, but not having the wherewithal, borrowed it from a bystander, and in five minutes afterwards the delighted little darkey was kicking up his heels on the grass.

One old farmer asked the President to let him make some apple brandy, assigned as a reason that he had "ured the critter for nigh on to thirty year, and if Mr. Sickles stopped his rations, he would starve plum to death." The President laughed heartily, and said he must talk to the General about it.

In a few minutes more, comfortable carriages which by the forethought of General Sickles had been brought from Raleigh made their appearance, and the party took seats for a twelve mile ride to Chapel Hill and the University.

THE TOBACCO FACTORIES.

I pause here for a moment to say that "Durham's" is a geographical locality fixed in the memory of every lover of a pipe, as celebrated for the unusually fine smoking tobacco, which is manufactured at this place. It is true, there are but two establishments, and these are owned by Mr. J. R. Green and Morris & Sons, but they supply all the genuine "Durham" used in the United States. I spent an hour in each of their factories, and having witnessed the process of preparation from the grinding of the raw leaf to its imprisonment in packages fragrant, pure and ready for the market, I am willing to foreswear all other brands and become for the remainder of my life a martyr to the unadulterated "Durham." And so would any other man under the inspiration of fleecy clouds floating heavenward from a pipeful of tobacco seventeen years old.

RITUALISM IN ENGLAND.—Lord Shaftesbury, of Exeter Hall fame, brought in a bill in the House of Lords, to prohibit Anglican clergymen from wearing garments of a certain cut and color in church. The Bishop of London doubted if the evil could be put down by law. They must get control of the Universities. The mischief was with the young men, with whom Ritualism was very popular. The Bishop of Oxford said there was a general desire in the Church and even among dissenters for religious services of a more stimulating character; but the English people will not bear the semblance of persecution. The Church of England was not a compromising but a comprehensive church, holding all extremes of doctrine. Finally, on motion of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the question was postponed two months.

COOL IMPUDENCE.—The Herald says that the best way to avoid any annoyance that might arise out of the Dominion of Canada, is by "buying or taking, on the large law of national necessity, all the country between the Maine boundary and the ocean that lies to the south of the St. Lawrence river."

These people will get themselves into trouble before they stop.

A NEW LAW.—General Griffin goes beyond the other military officers stationed in the South, inasmuch as they but annul the laws of the State while he in addition upsets the laws of grammar. In an order issued on the 25th ult., Griffin says: "The collection of all taxes in this State levied during the rebellion are hereby forbidden."

The latest style of wearing the hair among the Paris modistes is the unrestrained and flowing, called in England the "mane" style. Several of the most fashionable ladies have appeared at evening parties with their hair simply held by a small gold bandeau of antique form set with precious stones.

In a trial of speed at a race in Bennington between a famous walker and a fast horse of that place, in which the man was to walk a quarter of a mile in less time than the horse trotted one-half a mile, the first heat was won by the horse, but the man took the next two with ease, in 1,33 and 1,35.

The Democratic State Convention of Minnesota has been called for July 10, in St. Paul.

For the Sentinel.

LITERARY.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—As you have been giving the readers of the Sentinel a resume of the contents of the last few numbers of "The Land We Love," with occasional extracts from its pages, perhaps a few words on the advantages that our State would derive from giving this periodical a paying support may not be uninteresting to them. North Carolinians, as a general rule, do not, it is to be feared, fully appreciate the pecuniary advantage of placing our State before capitalists in an anti-Rip-Van-Winkle aspect. Month after month, for the past year, the "Land We Love" has been doing this, and not only openly refuting the wilful misrepresentations of such panderers to a vitiated taste as the Harpers, but also insensibly correcting many misapprehensions respecting us in the minds of a number of people who never see our local papers, and regard us, as a New England correspondent of yours, some time since, as, at the best, but a semi-civilized community in which it is hardly safe as yet to invest capital. I have no personal interest in the pecuniary success of Messrs. Hill, Irwin and Co., but I know something of their subscription list, and am sorry to say that North Carolina makes but a poor show on it beside Maryland, Tennessee and Kentucky.

"Old Determined Hostility Hill," as one of his lady admirers, who had never seen him and imagined him to be about sixty years of age, dubbed him during the war, is not the man to fail at anything he undertakes; and he is as determinedly "loyal to greenbacks" now, as he was hostile to the Yankees during the war. The question, therefore, is not whether "The Land We Love" will be a pecuniary success, but whether the State of North Carolina is to derive the benefit that she might, and ought to do, from that success. Its pages have heretofore been freely opened to contributions from North Carolinians, who will naturally write most on such subjects as are most interesting to them and the community in which they reside, and such articles as that on the "Minerals of North Carolina," in the July number of '66, and the "Roanoke Valley," in the December number, sandwiched in between a good poem and a chapter of a novelette, reach the eyes, and penetrate the minds, of many a capitalist who probably would never see Professor Kerr's geological report, or any of the agricultural articles in our newspapers. But a magazine, to be a permanent success,—and without this it will not long be a literary one,—must contain matter agreeable to a large number of its paying subscribers. The Northern capitalist would like papers like the above, on the resources of Maryland, Kentucky, or Tennessee, quite as well as those on North Carolina, and as long as these States preponderate so largely, as they do, over ours on the subscription list of the magazine, it will be to the interest of the Editor to seek similar papers from them, and consequently North Carolina will be, as usual, crowded out, but in this case it will be her fault if she is, for General Hill has sought for contributions on State subjects, and is only now unwillingly laying them aside for more sparing use because it is necessary for him to cater to the taste of his public by being less local in his interests.

His public does not consist of his readers, but of his paying subscribers, and he has shown not only a willingness but the ability to please them; give him such a public in North Carolina, and her interests and the development of her resources will then be the first object of his magazine.

The first numbers of it were objected to by some persons of discrimination as too "solidly dignified" to be popular, and one of the Editor's brother Generals said that its light articles—so-called—were its heaviest,—but all that is changed now, and even Dr. Dabney on John Milton, whom, following your example, I took on trust, considering that Macauley had exhausted the subject, can't overpower Mrs. Downing's "Perfect Through Suffering." In the May number; the Editor tells us that he is "opposed to fiction," which is perhaps the reason why his first stories were like Jean Paul's grandfather, "in an eminent degree poor and pious." He also tells us that he is especially opposed to serials, but yields to the public taste in such matters and means to give us a story of life in Maryland, the first chapter of which appears in the June number which is equivalent to saying that, while he has an individual literary taste of his own, he has also an editorial one for his public, and means to please that, at the expense of the other, if necessary. The depressed state of our finances is probably the reason why this magazine is not better supported in North Carolina. Many persons who, before the war, took several periodicals, now subcribe to none, or, at most, but one. To such I say, let that one be the "Land We Love," for paying for this is one step, and a great one, towards enabling them to pay for others.

A NORTH-CAROLINIAN.

The New York Times makes earnest objection to the proposed removal of Gen. Sheridan, as king of Louisiana. The argument is to the effect, that the sole duty of the President is to give "cordial and unwavering support" to the commanding generals, and in particular "to ratify and uphold the action of Sheridan."

The people of the South have, at present, to suffer the injustice of a party spirit, that regards with favor any exhibitions of violence towards us, and instead of denouncing them as outrages, hails them as proof of our ill desert! This is the old doctrine that "the king can do no wrong," with a vengeance! We are sorry that the Times gives it any support, and defends the shameful melefactions of Sheridan, as evidence against his victims.—Richmond Enquirer.

THE INCOME TAX.—It is very justly said that income returns are very unsatisfactory, being subject to very erroneous interpretations. No just estimate of the incomes of the men engaged in commerce or production can be formed from the returns. Many men must pay for the last year taxes upon profits that were lost before they were realized.—A great house that has just failed in New York, which, it is said, will have to return an income of $80,000, and many men who have not failed, and who do not mean to return large incomes, but are really poorer than they were before their profits were made, for they have lost them, and more with them.—Richmond Dispatch.

A SINGULAR FUNERAL.—A most singular sight was presented on Penn street yesterday afternoon. It was a funeral procession consisting of five persons, a father, mother and three children. But the strange part of the affair was that the coffin—containing the corpse of her youngest child—was borne by the mother upon her head, who with solemn gait and mien preceded the procession, followed by the father and children.—Pittsburg Post, June 8.

Governor Pierpoint, of Virginia, refuses to sign the petition for the pardon of Mr. Davis, because it would be "contrary to the established laws of God," of which the Governor must have a copy inaccessible to ordinary people.

An Illinois journal has a cheerful editorial expressing belief that Mr. Lincoln is still alive, and will turn up in Washington some day.

It has had, through its entire history, the smallest average expenses, and, therefore, it is the safest and

CHEAPEST LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY IN EXISTENCE.

The Ætna Life's General Agent of N. C., in last week's paper, made a statement as follows: "The ratio of the Ætna's expenses to premiums and total income is less than that of the Connecticut Mutual." He surely has not seen the State of New York's Commissioners Report, ending Dec. 31, 1866; "Ratio of expenses to premiums and interest, Connecticut Mutual 11.11, Ætna 16,60; to premiums only, Connecticut Mutual 13.44, Ætna 17,59." "That Company in which the average expenses are the lowest and the rate of interest obtained on investments is the highest (other things being equa.,) affords life insurance at the least cost; also the Company is the safest in which the largest number is insured."

THAT COMPANY IS THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL.

This Company gives the Policy holder a credit or forbearance of one half his premium, and in case of early death, the number of dividends will always equal the number of out-standing credits. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—See the regular daily announcement of Mitchell, Allen & Co., Newbern, and also the advertisement of the patent economical Pump.

The Healing Springs, Bath county, Va., so favorably and almost universally known for their curative qualities, are again open to the public, under the most efficient management. The announcement appears today.

See Equity notice from Washington county.

The next annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad Company will be held in this City on the 4th. prox.

See Court notice from Bertie county.

CONNECTICUT MUTUAL LIFE INS. CO.—We call attention to the advertisement of this gigantic and reliable Company in another column. In the benefits which it confers, and in the scope of its operations, it is a national institution. We have no hesitation, from the evidences before us, in commending it to public confidence. Mr. Samuel D. Wait, the general agent for this State, has established his headquarters in this city, and may be found at the store of P. F. Pescud, Esq., agent for Raleigh and vicinity.

"PLUTO: THE ORIGIN OF MINT-JULEP."—This is the title of a "gay and festive" poem of something over thirty pages, that has been laid on our table by the publishers, Messrs. Nichols, Gorman and Neathery.—The typographical execution of the little work is really superb, reflecting great credit upon the taste and enterprise of the firm, and equalling the imprimatur of the best Northern publishers.

But the story: Well, it is the sad history and lamentable fate of the "fair Minthe," whom Mrs. Pluto, in order to part her lord from the fascinating young lady, changed into the fragrant herb which bears her name,—showing how short-sighted the infuriated Goddess was, since, whenever thereafter, the old fellow wished peculiarly to enjoy the society of his beloved, "he had only to call for a glass of Mint Julep." The whole narrative—the captivations of Minthe, the passion of the grim Monarch, the ire of the jealous Proserpine, the metamorphosis of Minthe, the first trial and effects of the right royal concoction, &c., &c.—is told in sparkling, brilliant, classical verse, exhibiting a wondrous luxuriance of fancy and richness of genius.

The author is nameless, as yet. The poem is "laughingly dedicated" to our friend and townsman, Maj. H. W. Husted. It is an excellent dedication of a very capital jeu d'esprit.

TUCKER HALL.—The work on this building is progressing finely. The interior of the theatrical or concert room is being fitted up in a handsome and appropriate style, with suitable and elegant scenery, &c. In a month or two, the enterprising owners will be able to throw open to the public a building that is indeed, already, an ornament to the city.

FRANKLINTON ACADEMY.—The examination of the students of this institution will take place on the 17th and 18th inst. On the 19th, during the day, there will be declamation by the pupils, and at night a valedictory sermon by the Rev. J. W. Babb, of Gates county. On the 20th, the literary address by the Rev. W. B. Wellons, of Suffolk, will be delivered, and at night there will be a public debate by the members of the Literary Society and the reading the paper edited by the Society. The Principal of this institution, Rev. Geo. W. Neal, is managing this excellent school with great success.

CIRCUIT COURT.—This tribunal was engaged all of yesterday morning in the trial of the case of the U. S. vs. Leander Todd, for robbing the mail. The prosecution was conducted by the District Attorney, assisted by Col. Thomas Ruffin, and the defence by ex-Gov. Bragg. The criminating evidence being conclusive, the Jury, after a short retirement, returned a verdict of guilty.

THE CONFEDERATE DEAD AT HIGH POINT.

HIGH POINT, N. C., June 11, 1867.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Accompanying this you will find a list of the names of those of our Confederate soldiers, who died at the High Point Hospital and were buried here near the close of the war. Most of them died from the effects of wounds received at the battle of "Bentonsville."

Through the devoted interest and untiring exertions of a portion of our noble-hearted ladies, a sufficient fund was raised, last fall, to defray the expense of exhuming and removing them from the Hospital burying ground to a square designated by the Town Commissioners in the citizen's grave yard, where they were decently interred, and neatly painted head and foot boards placed to their graves, with names and record inscribed thereon.

We can assure their kindred and friends that, so long as the present generation of that class of our great-hearted ladies live, who united their energies in procuring the means by which their graves were cared for, their last resting place will not be forgotten or neglected. If our people were able, they would like to erect a monument to their memory, but it is altogether useless; they do not need pillars of marble to perpetuate their memory, for, ere they ceased to be with us, they erected for themselves a monument more lasting than brass or marble. OUR CITY GOVERNMENT.—We see by a short announcement in the Republican, that Major Palmer has been appointed Mayor of this City. This completes the new board, under the provisional military system of the reconstruction bill. A fine board certainly, for a Southern City! But a single Southern man, from the town sergeant down to the Mayor! Police, City Clerk, City Physician, Sanitary Inspector, Councilman and Mayor all, all radicals of the purest water—the Mayor being chairman of the Radical Association, or Union League, of this City. Not one of these have any more interest in the welfare or prosperity of the City of Newbern, than any other migratory class. Were ever such monstrous outrages inflicted on any people?

By the way, we understand that Mayor Washington, upon declining to take the required oath, was requested by the officer commanding this Post, to recommend some native citizen for his successor; who, in addition to his ability to take the oath, possessed other qualities fit and proper for one holding that responsible position.

Mr. Washington, we are told, recommended Henry R. Bryan, Esq., one of our most substantial and worthy citizens—a gentleman of fine mind, extensive attainments in law and literature, of very conservative principles, moderate in everything, and who would have discharged the duties of Mayor, with an impartiality which neither race nor color could have challenged. He had the misfortune to hold a deep pecuniary interest in this country and—to be born South of Mason and Dixon's Line. The gentleman was not appointed. But enough.—Newbern Journal of Commerce.

This morning two committees, appointed by the two wings of the Virginia Republican party at the conference last night, met Senator Wilson and three other delegates from the Union League Clubs of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, at the Ballard House, where all existing differences of sentiment were adjusted. Hon. J. M. Botts accepted on behalf of the friends of the Charlottesville Convention a proposition for a joint Convention of the two wings as follows:

"To the Unconditional Union men of Virginia:—The Republican Executive State Committee and the undersigned citizens of Virginia, who here avow ourselves unconditional union men and members of the great Republican party of the United States, call upon all others of a like condition as common sufferers, not to throw away this golden opportunity to rescue ourselves, our citizens and our State, from the hands of those who have brought nothing but war, desolation, want and wretchedness upon our land, to meet in council at Richmond, as more convenient than Charlottesville, on the 1st day of August next at 12 M., in the African Church, for the purpose of extending and perfecting the organization of the Republican party, commenced by the Convention assembled at Richmond on the 17th of April last.

The call is signed by the Republican State Committee, Gov. Pierpoint, Hon. J. M. Botts, Lewis McKenzie, of Alexandria, and some three hundred others.

The revenue receipts from tobacco in this District for the past month were $250,000.

Gen. Schofield having received complaint that E. J. Crump, one of the registers of this city, had been aiding the Confederates, investigated the matter and found no cause for the charge.—This complaint was preferred by freedmen and is the first made in the State.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

WASHINGTON, June 12.

All the members of the Cabinet were present yesterday when Stanberry's opinion, regarding the powers of the District commanders, was discussed. The opinion was approved by all except Stanton, who was silent on the subject. Gen. Grant was not present at the consideration of the opinion. The opinion is adverse to the arbitrary removal of State, and, it is understood, municipal officers.

The Indian Commissioners had a prolonged audience with the President this morning.

Gen. Withers, Mayor of Mobile, has an interview with the President at three o'clock to-morrow, from which it is inferred that the Mobile removals are still undecided.

The impression which prevailed a few days ago of the changes of District Commanders is failing. It is now thought that the desired restraints can be obtained better by enforcing discipline, which involves respect for law and obedience from subordinate military officers.

Revenue receipts to-day $583,000.

Ninety-three suits have been commenced by claimants of Savannah Cotton, alleged to have been captured by Gen. Sherman and sold in New York. The claims amount to about $4,000,000 in gold, and the suits are authorized by recent acts of Congress.

The Grecian legation has arrived and will be presented to-morrow.

The new trial in the Conover case has been abandoned. He leaves to-night for the Albany penitentiary.

ANOTHER HOWL FROM OLD THAD.

From the Columbus (Ga.) Daily Inquirer, June 6.

We find the following short notice from Hon. Thad. Stevens in the Dadeville Tallapoosian, of the 3d instant. It is addressed to Mr. F. S. C. Somerly, Esq., of Dadeville, who, we suppose, is a "loyal man" who had taken fright. It will be seen that Mr. Stevens repeats the recent modification or explanation of his "confiscation" policy. He does not desire to confiscate the property of any except a few "rich rebels"—only enough to reimburse himself and others who suffered by the acts of the "rebels". The absurdity of his confiscation scheme is shown by the mention of only two facts:

1. He has himself admitted that it is impossible to convict any one engaged in the rebellion of treason.

2. The Constitution requires such a conviction before any man's property can be confiscated.

Here is old Thad's note:

LANCASTER, May 21.

Dear Sir: We do not confiscate loyal men, nor rebels unless they are rich; a few will suffer; not enough, I fear; some innocent men will, I fear. THADEUS STEVENS.

S. S. S. BILL.

Dreading that climax of all human ills,
A plague upon all military bills!
The only way for us to save the nation,
Is for all white men to go in for Registration.

VERY LIBERAL.—Etheridge, who is stumping Tennessee, against the Radical Stokes, made the following proposition in a recent speech at Chattanooga:

"They say I want to be Governor. If Brownlow will agree to call the Legislature together and let as many men vote in Tennessee as do in South Carolina, I will agree to quit the canvass and vote for him."

The Shepherdstown Register states that quite a number of persons from Pennsylvania passed through that place during the past week, on their way up the Valley to purchase Virginia farms.

New York is about to erect an asylum for useless young men. It will overflow.

Diamonds of the very first water have been found in Hall county, Ga.

The latest horticultural device is that of removing the stones from fruit by a process of gradual reduction, by extracting the pith from shoots and grafting them on stocks and their own branches, for successive seasons. The experiment has been perfectly successful with the Malaga grape.

It is stated that Brownlow is projecting a navy in the shape of two old steamers to be iron-plated, for service on the Cumberland river, and thus co-operate with his land forces in keeping rebels from the polls.

A genius out West, who wished to mark a half dozen new shirts, marked the first John Jones, and the rest ditto.

MADAME E. F. THORNTON, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. THE SENTINEL.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1867.

THE MOTTO.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

"Give me a motto!" said a youth
To one whom years had rendered wise;
"Some pleasant thought, or weighty truth,
That briefest syllables comprise;
Some word of warning or of cheer
To grave upon my signet here."

"And, reverend father," said the boy,
"Since life, they say, is ever made
A mingled web of grief and joy;
Since cares may come and pleasures fade,
Pray, let the motto have a range
Of meaning, matching every change."

"Sooth!" said the sire, "methinks you ask
A labor something over nice,
That well a finer brain might task—
What think you, lad, of this device?
(Older than I—though I am gray,)
'Tis simple—'This will pass away!'

"When wafted on by Fortune's breeze,
In endless peace thou seem'st to glide,
Prepare betimes for rougher seas,
And check the boast of foolish pride!
Though smiling joy is thine to-day,
Remember, 'This will pass away!'

"When all the sky is draped in black,
And beaten by tempestuous gales,
Thy shuddering ship seems all a wreck,
Then trim again thy tattered sails,
To grim Despair be not a prey;
Bethink thee, 'This will pass away!'

"Thus, O my son, be not o'er proud,
Nor yet cast down; judge though aright;
When skies are clear expect the cloud;
In darkness, wait the coming light;
Whatever be thy fate to-day,
Remember, 'This will pass away!'"

HUMORS OF THE BOYS.—During the late war, while the Army of Tennessee, under Gen. Johnston, lay encamped near Dalton, the following rich scene occurred:

There was a very popular dealer in newspapers there, a perfect Brobdinag in size, rivaling Daniel Lambert in rotundity of stomach. A regiment was about to leave Mobile, and our massive friend had some business to transact with the Colonel. So puffing and blowing he came up a few minutes before the train started. As he came up, a soldier spied him and hallooed out "Boys, here he is." Instantly the whole regiment was on the alert, and shout after shout went up—"Here is, here he is." Looking dumbfounded, the fat man said—"What's up, gentlemen? What have I done?" "You are the very man that stole our big base drum and swallowed it"—went up simultaneously. Struck with surprise, he did not know whether to laugh or get mad, but finally said: "Well, boys, if you'll stay till evening, I'll treat you."—Atlanta New Era.

PULL YOUR OWN CART.—A man moved from Eastern North Carolina during the war to Appomattox, Va., to avoid depredations, and located not far from the spot Gen. Lee surrendered: In avoiding Charybdis, however, the result proved that he encountered Scylla, for the Federal army ruined him. The war over, he concluded to move back to the good old North State; but he had no horse, and no means to buy one! However, where there's a will there is a way, and our hero was not to be balked. Apart from his wife and four children, (two of them very small,) he had but little to move. He procured him a light cart, and seating his two youngest children in it, he acted "horse" himself, and pulled the cart all the way back to the Eastern Shore—his wife and the two children walking. We do not think this fact at all creditable to the generosity or kindness of those who witnessed it without offering the poor man assistance, but it a few more of us would pull our own carts, we might surmount hard times after awhile.—Danville Times.

Any citizen, a qualified voter according to the requirements of the Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2nd, 1867, and the act supplemental thereto, passed March 23rd, 1867, is eligible to office in the Provisional government of North and South Carolina. All persons appointed to office will be required to take the oath prescribed by the act aforesaid and to file the same duly subscribed and sworn with the Post Commander.

2. All citizens assessed for taxes, and who shall have paid taxes for the current year, are qualified to serve as jurors. It shall be the duty of the proper civil officers, charged with providing lists of jurors, to proceed within their several jurisdictions, without delay, and ascertain the names of all qualified persons, and place them on the jury lists, and from such revised lists all jurors shall be hereafter summoned, and drawn in the manner required by law.

3. All citizens are eligible to follow any licensed calling, employment or avocation, subject to such impartial regulations as may be prescribed by municipal or other competent authority, not inconsistent with common rights and the Constitution and laws of the United States. The bond required as security shall not exceed the penal sum of one hundred dollars. One or more sureties being citizens and worth, in the aggregate, double the amount of the bond, over and above just debts, will be sufficient.

4. The Mayors of cities and other municipal and town officers, and all Sheriffs, Magistrates and Police officers, are required to be vigilant and efficient in maintaining order, and in the discharge of their duties. They will be expected to cooperate with the military authorities.

5. Post commanders may summon to their aid, whenever the ordinary means at their disposal shall not be sufficient to execute their orders, such of the civil officers, and as many of the citizens, within the territorial limits of the military post, as may be necessary, and the neglect or refusal of any person to aid and assist in the execution of the orders of the Commanding officer will be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by such fine and imprisonment as may be imposed by a military tribunal approved by the Commanding General.

6. No license for the sale of intoxicating liquors in quantities less than one gallon or to be drank on the premises shall be granted to any person other than an Inn-keeper. The number of such licenses shall be determined, and the fees to be charged for each license shall be prescribed and collected, by the municipal or town authorities and appropriated exclusively for the benefit of the poor. If any person shall be found drunk on the premises where liquor is sold, the license may be revoked by any magistrate. The tax imposed by the Internal Revenue laws of the United States is an additional charge and does not excuse the person from the observance of local regulations, nor exempt him from the payment of such other license fees as may be imposed by the municipal or other competent authorities.

7. All contracts hereafter made for the manufacture, sale or transportation, storage or insurance of intoxicating liquors shall within this military district be deemed and treated as against public policy, and no civil action, suit or proceedings for the enforcement of any such contract shall be entertained in any court.

8 In public conveyances on railroads, highways, streets or navigable waters, no discrimination because of color or caste shall be made, and the common rights of all citizens therein shall be recognized and respected. The violation of this regulation will be deemed a misdemeanor and render the offender liable to arrest and trial by a Military tribunal to be designated by the commanding General, besides such damages as the injured party may sue for and recover in the civil Courts.

9. The remedy by distress for rent is abolished. Where lands are leased, or let out for hire or rent, cotton, corn or other produce of the same, when severed from the land, may be impounded, but the same shall not be removed. Any cotton, corn or other produce so impounded shall be held as security for the rent or hire so claimed and may be sold in satisfaction of any judgment for the same, Provided, that any unsatisfied claim for labor bestowed upon the cultivation of such cotton, corn, or other produce, shall, in no case, be postponed to any demand for rent or hire. But to the extent of such claim for labor there shall be a lien on such cotton, corn and other produce having preference over any claim for rent or hire.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish, as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions: Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates, and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 4th. section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowledge and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the Court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2 1867 shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof: that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God," which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such State by the commanding general, giving to each representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention or voting a ticket printed or written on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall canvass and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as hereinspecified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."
